experience!

Calling all educators including technicians and support staff regardless of qualifications and/or position, in Higher Education Art and Design

FACE remit within Higher Education Art and Design faculties includes but is not limited to fashion, photography, film, graphic design, interior design and fine art. See more details on FACE home page www.weareface.uk

Capturing the everyday experience of all participant educators (minoritised and non-minoritised) pertaining to race experience nationwide, this study will build an evidence base enabling better recruitment, retention, and progression of educators in Higher Education Art and Design institutions.

Please complete this 5-10 minute survey via the QR code below. The study is open now and will close end of May.

All the information you provide will be treated as confidential. Your comments will not be identified as belonging to you, they will be combined with those gathered from other anonymous participants in this study. No institution will have access to FACE data.

This study invite and later findings will be promoted through 30 FACE member HE institutions and FACE partners and organisations.

This study is for Everyone

Black, Brown, POC and white, non-minoritised participants all welcome

Study hosted and initiated by Fashion Academics Creating Equality (FACE) and sponsored by Kingston School of Art EDI Race and Ethnicity group. GDPR and privacy statement here: weareface.uk/gdpr-and-privacy
